2.3 Eligibility

2.3.1 Eligibility for Admission to a Master of Laws (Applied Law) Program

2.3.1.1 To be admitted to Master of Applied Law (Family Law), Master of Laws (Applied Law) and associated nested awards, students are required to have an undergraduate law degree, or equivalent. As documentary evidence of their law degree, they must submit originals or certified copies of either their official academic transcript graduation testamur, practicing certificate or admission certificate (see 1.3.2 from Enrolment & Re-enrolment Policy ALP).

2.3.1.2 In addition, enrolment in single Subjects on a non-award basis is permitted, for which no previous qualifications are necessary.

2.3.2 In-house Practice Program – Applicants without legal qualifications

2.3.2.1 Applicants for admission to the Graduate Diploma of In-house Practice (the In-house Program) should normally hold a degree in law degree. The reason for this is that the In-house Program assumes, and builds upon, a requisite minimum knowledge of law and legal systems and practical experience in a business or government context. However, given the diverse nature of In-house practice and practitioners, it is possible in appropriate cases to enter the Program without first having obtained a law degree.

2.3.2.2 The College recognises that there may be candidates, without legal qualifications, who might nevertheless be capable of undertaking, and benefiting from, the In-house Program. Accordingly, applicants without legal qualifications may be considered for entry to the In-house Program where they can provide evidence that they:

- hold a bachelor's degree (or higher)
- have substantial experience of working in a quasi-legal capacity, and
- are able to demonstrate a working knowledge of law and legal systems.

2.3.2.3 Applicants should include a letter with their application, addressed to the Program Director, explaining why they wish to undertake the In-house Program and which provides the following information:

- Name(s) of employer(s) and position(s) held
- Duration of employment
- A description of the practice or business, and
- A description of the quasi-legal tasks undertaken by the applicant.

2.3.2.4 Applicants should also include a reference from a lawyer, who holds a current practising certificate, stating that, in the opinion of the referee, the applicant has the requisite knowledge and experience to benefit from the In-house Program.

2.3.2.5 If, on the basis of the documentation, the applicant is considered to be a viable candidate, the applicant will then be interviewed by a member of College academic staff and a member of the Academic Board. A report will be prepared and a determination will be made by the Chair of the Academic Board as to whether the applicant may commence the In-house Program.

2.3.2.6 Applicants who perform adequately toward the Graduate Diploma will be allowed to proceed to the Masters Degree with a Major in In-house Practice.

2.3.4 FDRP Program – Entry requirements

2.3.4.1 The primary discipline within the Program is mediation, supported by aspects of psychology and sociology. Relevant law is included but this is not abstract legal principles building upon concepts learned at undergraduate level. A high proportion of students enrolled in similar courses elsewhere are not lawyers, and a high proportion of existing Family Dispute Resolution practitioners are not lawyers.

2.3.4.2 Applicants for admission to the Graduate Diploma of Family Dispute Resolution Practice (the FDRP Program) must hold an appropriate qualification that is deemed eligible under the Australian Government's training package CHC81115 Graduate Diploma of Family Dispute Resolution, which is a pre-requisite to gaining registration as a family dispute resolution practitioner (FDRP).

2.3.4.3 Appropriate qualifications for the purposes of the FDRP Program entry requirements include:

- An undergraduate degree or higher qualification in Psychology, Social Work, Law, Conflict Management, Dispute Resolution, Family Law Mediation or equivalent; or

- Current accreditation under the National Mediator Accreditation Scheme (NMAS); or
- Current holder of the Mediation skill set from the Community Services Training Package (CHC).

2.3.4.4 Applicants who do not hold an appropriate qualification may be eligible for admission to the FDRP Program on the basis of previous experience in a dispute resolution environment, in a job role involving the self-directed application of knowledge with substantial depth in some areas, exercise of independent judgment and decision making, and a range of technical and other skills. Such applicants must include a letter with their application, addressed to the Program Director, explaining why they wish to undertake the FDRP Program and provide the following information by no later than two weeks before the start of FDR1 – Family Law and Mediation subject:

- Name(s) of employer(s) and position(s) held
- Duration of employment
- A description of the practice or business, and
- A description of relevant tasks undertaken by the applicant.

2.3.4.5 If, on the basis of the submitted documentation, the applicant is considered to be a suitable candidate, the applicant will then be interviewed by a member of College academic staff and a report will be prepared for the Chair of the Academic Board. A determination will be made by the Chair of the Academic Board as to whether the applicant may commence the FDRP Program.

2.3.4.6 Entry requirements for the Master of Laws (Applied Law) majoring in Family Dispute Resolution Practice are the same as for any other Major. Students are required to have a law degree, or equivalent.

2.3.5 Master of Legal Business Management Program – Entry Requirements

2.3.5.1 The award programs (Master of Legal Business Management and associated Graduate Diploma and Graduate Certificates) are open to all professionals working in the legal services industry, including those who may not have a law degree.

- An undergraduate law degree, or
- Any undergraduate degree plus at least 1 year relevant work experience in the legal services industry*, or
- At least 5 years' relevant work experience in the legal services industry*.

* Applicants will be considered on a case by case basis and must submit a personal statement and supporting documentation that covers:

- work experience and current work environment (duration and type);
- relevance of the work experience to the course;
- evidence as to why that work experience demonstrates equivalence with an undergraduate degree;

- evidence of professional certificates/short courses and capacity to learn, research and be assessed at the requisite level.

2.4.4.1 The table at 2.4.2 shows minimum full time duration for each award, but students do not enroll as either “full time” or “part time” students. Three Subjects per intake is regarded as a full time load and the College regards anything less than a full time load as part time.

2.4.4.2 At the time of enrolment, a student may select which Program they wish to undertake.

2.4.4.3 If a student graduates with a Graduate Diploma of Applied Law or, from 2018, graduates with a Graduate Diploma of Family Dispute Resolution Practice, they (with the exception of non-law graduate candidates), may apply to proceed to a higher award at any time and be granted credit for the subjects already completed.
