1. Introduction

This document, together with the enrolment form(s), on-line or hard copy, and the terms and conditions, form the contractual agreement between the College of Law Queensland and participants in the Legal Practice Management Course (the Course).

2. Eligibility

To be eligible to commence the Course, a participant must be admitted to practice as an Australian lawyer as defined in s.5(1) Legal Profession Act 2007.

3. Satisfactory completion

3.1 On achieving satisfactory completion of the Course, a participant will receive a Certificate of Completion which is evidence of completion of an approved Practice Management Course as defined in Part 5 of the Queensland Law Society Administration Rule 2005.

3.2 Satisfactory completion means:

3.2.1 satisfactory participation in the Course, including completion of all assessable and non-assessable activities, and full attendance at and participation in, the three day, face to face workshop; and

3.2.2 completion of all preliminary interactive activities; and

3.2.3 completion of the course assessments to the required standard.

3.3 The required standard means the participant must achieve the pass mark required by the Queensland Law Society for each of each of the compulsory Assignments 1, 2, 3 and 4 as follows:

- 3.3.1 Assignment 1 - Trust Accounting assessment (comprising short answer questions) to be completed as an individual exercise in which participants must attain a grade of at least 80%.
- 3.3.2 Assignment 2 - Ethics and Professional Standards assessment (comprising short answer questions), to be completed as an individual exercise in which participants must achieve a grade of at least 75%; and

The total marks achieved for both the Business Plan and Risk Management Plan make up at least 50% of the overall mark.

- 3.4 The participant must pass all four assignments to pass the Course overall. No conceded pass marks will be awarded.

4. Program structure

- 4.1 The Qld Legal Practice Management Course is a blended learning program. The course is delivered by:
 - 4.1.1 preparatory on-line components, which include compulsory activities; and
 - 4.1.2 a three day, face to face workshop.
- 4.2 Access to the course is by the Canvas Learning Portal. Each participant will have access to the Learning Portal for the duration of the Course. Access will be available for approximately seven weeks, commencing one week prior to the Course start date and ending two weeks after the assessment due date (so the participant can receive feedback on their activities).
- 4.3 The face to face workshop is at the College's premises at Level 5, 140 Ann Street, Brisbane, or otherwise as advised.

5. Competency and Proficiency

By enrolling in the Course, each participant must have a sufficient level of computer literacy and English proficiency as per the IELTS standard (i.e. level 8 writing, 7.5 speaking, 7.0 listening and 7.5 overall) to satisfactorily participate in the Course and to complete the Course requirements.

6. Transfer between courses

Transfer between Legal Practice Management Courses may attract an administration fee, credit may be given for completed components and is at the discretion of the Executive Director or nominee.

7. Marking and resubmission

- 7.1 Assessment tasks will be marked using marking guides. If a participant fails to demonstrate competency in an assessment task (or fails one or more components referred to in paragraph 3.3 above), the participant will receive feedback from the lecturer and will then be offered the opportunity to resubmit that task (or re-sit that component) for further assessment.
- 7.2 If the grade obtained on the marked resubmission indicates the participant has again failed to demonstrate competency, the participant will be given the opportunity to have the resubmitted assessment marked by a second marker. If the second marker has assessed that the participant has failed to demonstrate competency, the participant will have failed to satisfactorily complete the Course notwithstanding any other completed assessment items.
- 7.3 A participant who has failed to satisfactorily complete the Course will not be accepted into a new course for 12 months from the date they were notified that they have failed to satisfactorily complete the Course.
- 7.4 A participant who has failed to successfully undertake or complete all or any part of the Course may, within 14 days of being advised of such failure by the Executive Director of the College, appeal to the Council of the Queensland Law Society for the decision to be reviewed.

8. Not completing an activity/assessment within time

If a participant is unable to complete an activity or assessment (other than the Ethics and Professional Standards assessment and Trust Accounting assessment) by the due date, the participant must notify the Course co-ordinator in writing no later than on business day before the due date. The Course co-ordinator may set the participant a new assessment submission date.

9. Plagiarism and academic misconduct

The College expects participants to provide a high standard of work. Plagiarism is not acceptable and may lead to a finding of academic misconduct.

Whilst it may be part of the learning experience for participants to discuss the Course with other participant, all participants must submit their own individual work.

When work is submitted via the Learning Portal, participants must certify that the work is their own work. If work is not that of a participant, the work must be attributed to its author. A false representation as to the originality of any submitted work may result in a finding of academic misconduct.
